team · three hands, one ear

Zoltán — Master tuner · 30+ yrs at the bench · concert pitch, voicing, restoration estimates

Emese — Host · receives clients · schedules visits · maintenance plans

Apprentice — part-time · pitch-raise practice inventory · keyboard cleaning by appointment — small team by design after · the moment the room remembers who comes back · three listeners

Dr. Eszter · Budapest ·
“her grandmother’s Bösendorfer woke last winter”

Balázs · Szentendre · “rehearses for Sunday mass in his flat — needs A441”

The Szabó family · Buda · “a child starts lessons — the piano must speak first”

not a spa — a service for those who already know the instrument's voice

four channels · no noise

Instagram @hangolas_22 — one post per tuning · the hands, the hammer, the calendar

Newsletter (monthly) — a single paragraph on seasonal pitch drift

Word of mouth (Music Academy Budapest) — Zoltán's name passes between professors

Website · by-appointment form only — no shopping cart, no spam, one click to book reach is narrow — depth is the whole business model three risks · three answers

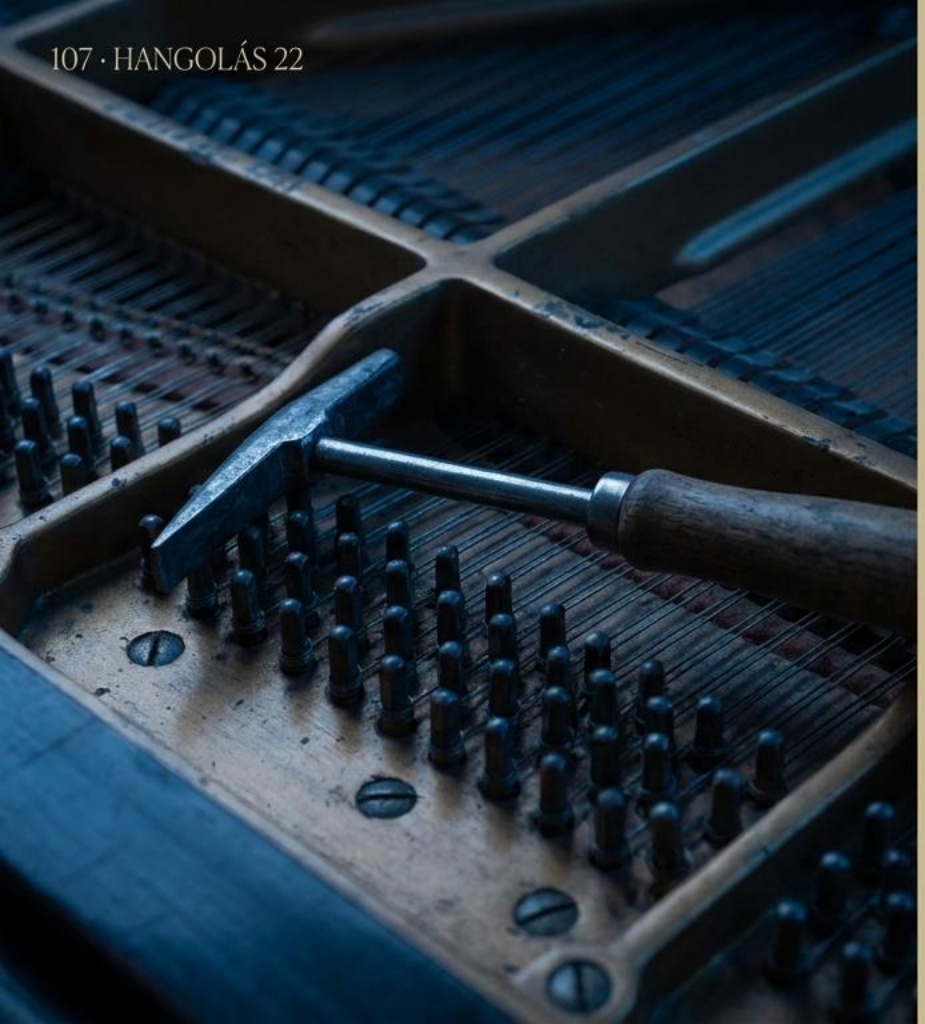
Budapest market already has tuners	answer: we specialize in restoration-grade voicing, not weekend freelancing
22 m² limits grand pianos on-site	answer: house-calls for grands, atelier for uprights · published pricing per format
Apprenticeship takes years	answer: two-year partnership with Liszt Academy, one apprentice per cycle



A piano is an instrument built from wood that once lived. When its strings drift a half-cent they do not betray — they remember. Our work is not a service, it is a returning. One room. One bench. One ear. Twenty-two square metres in Erzsébetváros, Budapest, where a century of furniture finds its pitch again.
