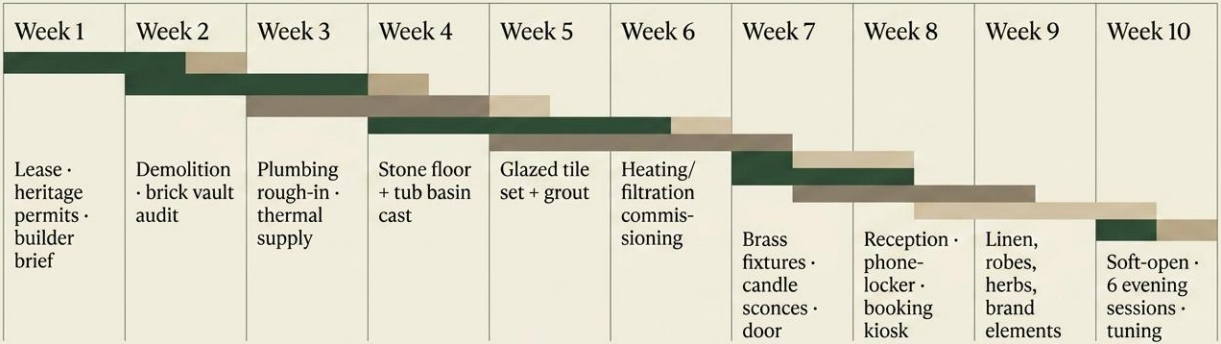
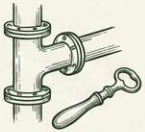
“10 weeks to first soak”



timeline · 10 weeks

Host / Founder · 1.0 FTE — Books, herbs, water schedule, closes the night. Knows each regular's soak cadence.

Evening Attendant · 0.5 FTE — Reset between soaks, linen, candles, wrist-tags. Works 18:00-23:30.



Thermal Technician · external — Weekly filtration audit, quarterly descaling, water-chemistry log.

team · 1.5 FTE + external technician

Forty-five minutes later, still wordless.

Anna · 38 · product lead at a fintech · Ferencváros — Monday and Thursday nights, solo 45-min soak, leaves her phone for a day. Logs her cadence in a leather-bound book at the bench.

Péter · 44 · architect · Budapest II — Saturday 07:30 ritual. One of the only guests who asks for no herbs — pure thermal, 90 min, candles off, total dark.

Katalin · 29 · PhD philosophy · ELTE — Rainy evenings. Wrist-tag number 04 became her handle online. She's convinced the infusion schedule tracks with the moon phase.

Instagram

@thermal.4 — one photograph every new moon. Steam, a tile, a candle. Never a face.

Word-of-neighbour

every 10th soak, a hand-written Christmas card in December. No discounts.

Leather-bound logbook regulars write their own cadence. Published as a single annual PDF on the winter solstice.

RISKS

1	Thermal water-chemistry drift	Weekly sampling, log stored 7 yrs, technician on retainer
2	One tub = single point of failure (fill-empty cycle)	Two-cycle days (morning empty + refill) + drain valve redundancy + spare heating element
3	Booking no-shows break single-guest model	Pre-paid slots only, no refunds, waitlist auto-fills < 30 min before

30 · THERMAL 4

Budapest has its grand baths.
We are not one of them.
One tub. One guest. Forty-five minutes. No music, no clock, no phone.
A thermal is not a treatment. It is an appointment with yourself.
