36 · JUICE LAB

Amsterdam · 12 m² · 6 weeks to open

Juice as medicine. Not as marketing.

Not a juice bar. A cold-press laboratory.

36 · JUICE LAB — eight numbered elixirs, pressed and bottled the evening before.

We do not serve smoothies. We do not blend. We do not accept custom orders at the counter. Each bottle is pH-checked, brix-measured, and labeled with the exact press time. You pick up what you ordered the day before, or you take today's rotation from the fridge behind the counter.

12 m² · front-of-house 6 m² · press-room 6 m² · one technician · one server at a time

Jordaan look-and-feel · works for any narrow EU shopfront

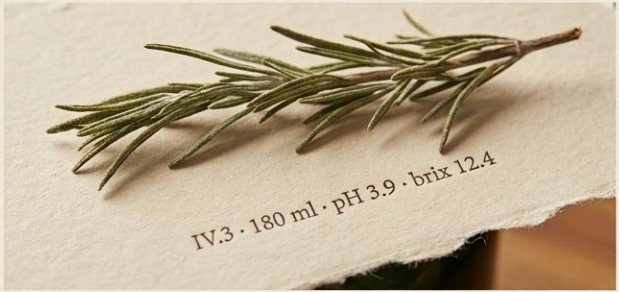
You arrive to a room that was already working before you got there.

Twelve square meters. Press in back. Pick-up in front. Nothing else happens here.

Glass · dark amber-green · UV-protective, 180 ml

Seal · espresso beeswax · tamper-proof, hand-pressed

Apron · waxed canvas · repairable, wipeable, ages well



Label · letterpress on hand-torn cotton paper

Four materials. Nothing shiny touches the product.

The press.

One batch an evening. No blends. No tricks.

Four objects. Eight elixirs. Zero noise.

Cold-press juicer × 2 · €2,600

Vacuum sealer + capping station · €520

Refractometer + pH kit · €180

Dark-glass bottles × 60 · €240

Sealing wax + brass press · €90

Letterpress labels × 200 · €180

Stainless beakers × 4 · €120

Waxed canvas aprons × 2 · €180

Custom shelving + press bench · €820

Total: Core lab kit · €4,930

*Prices are EU averages, benchmarked against Austria. Your local suppliers may differ. micro.svita.ai bears no liability for price variation.

Eight elixirs. Numbered.

The whole menu rotates once a season. We do not improvise at the counter.

Each elixir is a single-press bottle, 180 ml. Pressed 17h the day before, sealed, labeled with its own brix and pH. Picked up next morning or taken from the day-fridge on arrival.

Prices in euro, EU averages. Juice is not medicine. Speak to a doctor for health concerns.

I.1 — Morning Iron — €9

II.3 — Winter Adaptogen — €10

III.2 — Bitter Root — €9

IV.3 — Cold Clear — €9

V.4 — Evening Calm — €10

VI.1 — Rebuild — €11

VII.2 — Pink Salt — €9

VIII.5 — Starter Kit · 4 bottles — €34

IX.0 — Month subscription · 20 bottles — €160

Every bottle ships with the notes.
The booklet only on your first visit.

Facade plate · brass, patinated · 20 × 12 cm

Back-door card · ivory cotton · letterpress

Three signs.
Each one honest.

Batch board · rewritten every evening

No neon. No screen. No wellness copywriting.

36 · JUICE LAB

a cold-press laboratory primary lock-up · thin serif · espresso on ivory

JUICE · LAB

sub-mark for tight spots

J·L

forest · the juice	sage · the walls	espresso · the wax	brass · the pendant	tan · the paper

Aa Jj Ll

Not a juice bar. A laboratory.

Eight elixirs. Numbered. Rotating.

Display & body · thin editorial serif · no sans · no script

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 · I II III IV V VI VII VIII

dark-glass bottle (forest-green transmission) waxed-canvas apron (forest-green weave) espresso beeswax seal (soft gloss)

hand-torn letterpress label (cotton paper)

Touchpoints: glass · canvas · wax · cotton paper

Primary system only. No secondary palettes, no alternate logos.

Ticket · €9
Sold · 35 / day
Open · 6 / week

~8 months to break even, selling 35 bottles a day.

€7,200 monthly revenue · €4,900 operating cost · €2,300 contribution margin

One technician. One press. One shop.
No blends. No subscriptions below 4 bottles. No delivery riders.

Figures are EU averages. Not a guarantee. This brandbook is the complete deliverable — no separate spreadsheet is provided.

€14,200

to open. One-time. No subscription. No consultant.

Fit-out · oak counter, lime wash, floor oil, press-room seal	— €4,200
Core lab kit	(see slide 10) — €4,930
Dark-glass fridge · front-of-house display	— €1,100
Brass pendant + task lighting	— €380
Signage · brass plate + chalkboard + cards	— €320
Permits + food-safety + accounting setup	— €900
Opening stock · produce + labels + wax	— €520
Marketing · door cards + launch booklet print	— €250
Reserve · 6 weeks runway buffer	— €1,600
	Sum · €14,200

Budget skews to press-room hardware. The counter is modest — the lab is not.

Prices are EU averages, benchmarked against Austria. Local suppliers may differ.
micro.svita.ai bears no liability for price variation.

6 weeks · 1 technician · 1 carpenter · 1 plumber

WEEK 1	WEEK 2	WEEK 3	WEEK 4	WEEK 5	WEEK 6
Sign the lease. Order the press.	Build the press-room. Lime wash.	Plumb the sink. Install the fridge.	First batch. First 20 labels.	Soft-press for neighbours. Fix the numbers.	Open the door. Press at 17h.
— · lease — · press order — · domain + card	— · oak bench — · lime wash — · floor oil	— · water line — · fridge install — · bottle shelves	— · produce sourcing — · label print — · first seal test	— · 5 neighbours daily · recipe calibration — · brix tuning	— · brass plate mount — · door card — · first 35 bottles out

Day 1 goal — 35 bottles sealed by 18h, 30 sold by 11h next morning.

Six weeks is ambitious. It is also small enough to actually keep.

TEAM

A tiny team.

LAB TECH · FOUNDER

Presses every batch. Sets the rotation.
Ex-biochemist. No wellness credentials.
Talks to guests if asked, not before.
€ · owner, draws from margin, no fixed salary

MORNING SERVER · 4h / day

Opens 08h, hands bottles across the counter.
Does not press. Does not improvise.
Rings up, seals bags, closes 12h.
€ · 4h × 6 days × hourly rate

PRODUCE · EXTERNAL PARTNER

Delivers Tuesday & Friday from a small cooperative farm.
All produce seasonal, EU-certified, no exotics.
If a root cannot be sourced local, the elixir rotates out.
€ · invoiced per crate, no salary

Three people keep the press running. The lab is not a team job.

The first seal.

Less ritual than routine. More ritual than most.

ROW 1 — THE RECOVERING RUNNER

Anika · 44 · runs the canal every morning.
Subscribes · 20 bottles a month · rotates all eight.
Drinks one before breakfast, one after a long run.
Why: ‘I do not want a smoothie. I want something measurable.’

Three people. Three reasons. One press.

ROW 2 — THE CONVALESCENT

Tomás · 68 · recovering from chemo, eight months in.
Buys 4 bottles on Saturdays, drinks one a day.
Wants low brix, low pH, no additions.
Why: ‘I can pronounce what’s in it. That is rarer than it sounds.’

Three people. Three reasons. One press.

ROW 3 — THE DESIGN-FAIR VISITOR

Laia · 31 · came to the design week, found the shop by accident.
Bought the Starter Kit. Took a bottle home to Barcelona by train, iced.
Why: ‘Everything else in this city says ‘wellness’. This one does not.’

If you recognise one of these people, the lab works.

DOOR CARD

neighbourly, restrained, zero hustle.

We opened a small cold-press lab next door.
Eight numbered elixirs, pressed every evening at 17h, picked up the morning after.

First Cold Clear is on us — show this card.

JUICE · LAB · 36

INSTAGRAM

documentation, not advertising.

Batch 214 · IV.3 Cold Clear · brix 12.4 · pH 3.9 · 40 bottles sealed.

One post a week. No reels. No stories.

Four channels. No ads. No influencers. No wellness hashtag.

SUBSCRIPTION CARD

matter of fact.

I II III IV

V VI VII VIII

20 bottles a month. Choose rotating or fixed.
Pause anytime. Cancel anytime. No surprise charges.

The subscription is a receipt, not a lock-in.

WORD OF MOUTH

do not interrupt it.

"They make me a juice for whatever is wrong that week. I can read the label. They do not tell me it will heal me."

We do not respond to reviews. We write better press notes.

This is not a growth plan. This is how we want to be seen.

Juice as medicine is a legal mine-field.

Claims can invite regulators and lawsuits.

→ We never claim. The booklet, the label, and the staff are trained to talk about brix, pH, and press times — not about conditions, cures, or outcomes. The disclaimer is everywhere. We shrink the promise until it is honest.

No fix is promised. This is an honest plan, not a guarantee.

Produce spoils. Elixirs expire in 48h.

A slow week turns into bins of landfill.

→ Every bottle is pre-ordered or walk-in only. Walk-ins are capped at 30 bottles a day by design. Leftovers at 11h go to a neighbourhood shelter as a standing donation — which also happens to make the neighbourhood happy we exist.

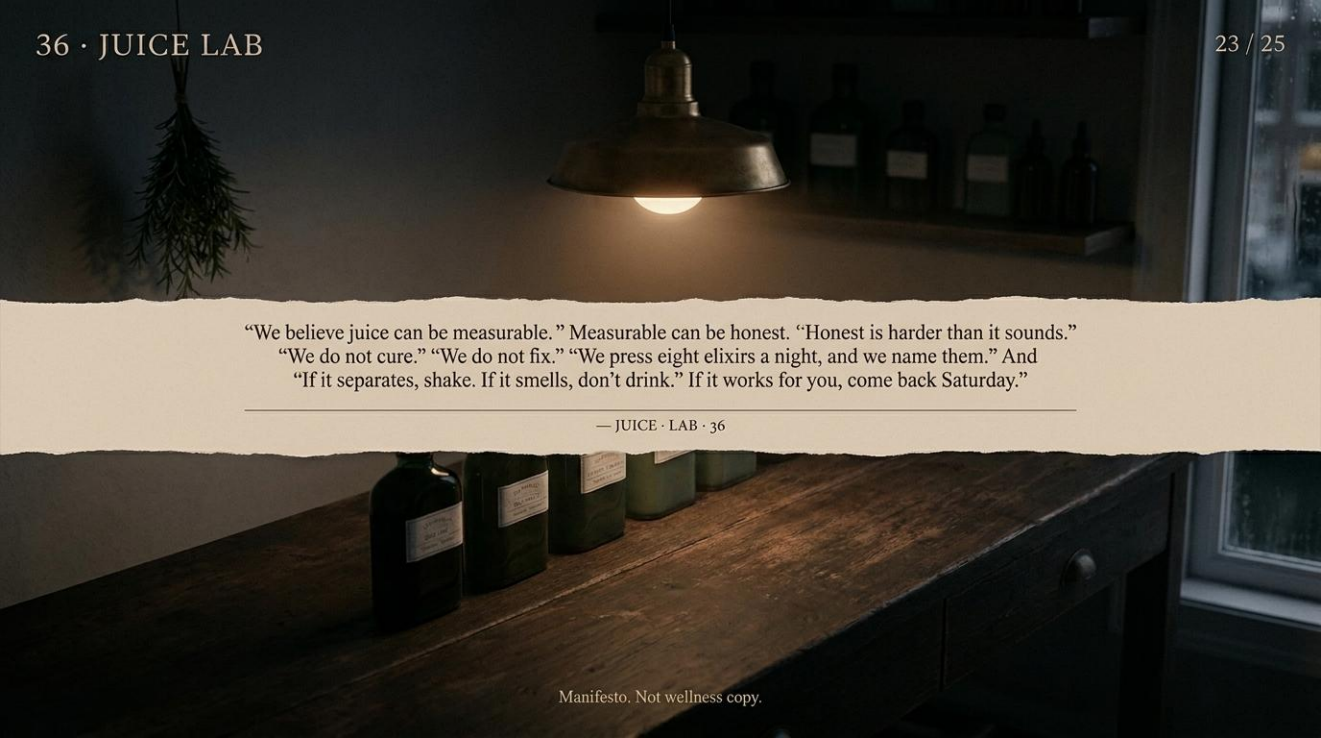
No fix is promised. This is an honest plan, not a guarantee.

The founder is the lab.

If she steps back, the rotation dies.

→ True. Contingency is a small handover book for each elixir — the recipe, the brix target, the supplier. The server can open for 5 days in a pinch, at reduced capacity. If absence passes 2 weeks, the door card says ‘closed for calibration, back on’ and the date.

Risk is part of the batch. We label it, we don’t hide it.



"We believe juice can be measurable." Measurable can be honest. "Honest is harder than it sounds." "We do not cure." "We do not fix." "We press eight elixirs a night, and we name them." And "If it separates, shake. If it smells, don't drink." If it works for you, come back Saturday."

— JUICE · LAB · 36

Manifesto. Not wellness copy.

You get this booklet.

That's all. That's the point.

This brandbook is the complete deliverable.
No separate spreadsheet, no source files,
no editable templates.

A

01 · Cover
02 · Definition
03 · Floor plan
04 · Facade
05 · Arrival
06 · Interior
07 · Materials
08 · The press
09 · Still life

B

10 · Equipment list
11 · Menu
12 · Takeaway
13 · Signage
14 · Identity
15 · Economics
16 · CAPEX
17 · 6-week plan

C

18 · Team
19 · First seal
20 · Personas
21 · Channels
22 · Risks
23 · Manifesto
24 · What you get
25 · Claim this concept

Buy the concept, or claim it exclusively.
Either way, the brandbook is what you walk away with.

Claim this concept
36 · JUICE LAB

CONCEPT

€49

Non-exclusive · buy the brandbook
Open it in any EU city.

EXCLUSIVE

€149

Exclusive · the slug leaves the catalog
No one else can open another JUICE · LAB · 36.

One purchase. No subscription. No hidden fees.

Pressed tonight. Picked up tomorrow.
Claim tonight.

micro.svita.ai/view.html?c=amsterdam-juice-lab or scan →