preserved, not restored.

DEFINITION

a chamber where objects keep their previous life intact.

we don’t refurbish. we listen, we catalogue, we hand them on.

38 · KAMMER — Berlin · Mitte · 32 m^2

W 5.4 × D 6.0 m | ceiling 4.2 m | skylight 1.8 m^2

every object had a previous life. we keep the proof.

HEX · #D4C4A8 · · #1F2A22 · · #3E2A1D · · #8B7E6B · · #BBA988 ·

Sophienstraße · Mitte · Berlin

from the threshold.

the chamber, before opening.

brushed steel —
verstak surface
verstak surface

perforated aluminium —
inventory tags
inventory tags

oak + walnut —
millwork

patinated brass —
original parts

moss felt + wax — packaging

the cataloguing — every object is registered before it is shown.

the morning bench, before the day.

01

01 · nautical octant — Dresden 1936

02

02 · Bauhaus desk-lamp — Dessau 1948

03

03 · Saxon copper coffee-pot — Meißen 1929

04

04 · apothecary scale — Leipzig 1955

05

05 · watchmaker's loupe — Glashütte 1942

06

06 · iron typeface drawer — Halle 1957

07

07 · telegraph key — Berlin 1924

08

08 · brass altimeter — Jena 1958

09

09 · linen-press iron — Görlitz 1933

1

single-object curation

we find one object per request, with full provenance.

2

provenance research

a written dossier and ten archival photographs per object.

3

gentle conservation

only what stops further decay. nothing more.

4

bespoke vitrine

a one-object glass cube made for your collection.

5

quarterly window

one object lives in our window for ninety days.

6

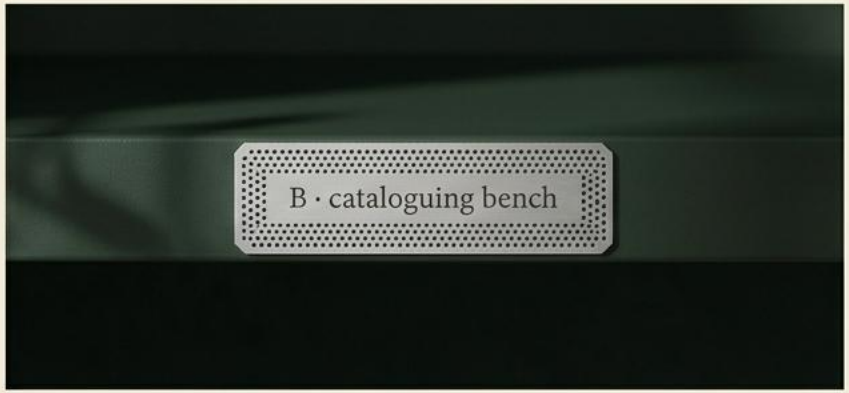
estate-sale walk-through

we accompany you to a closing workshop or estate.

every service is hourly · documented · returnable within 14 days.

every object leaves with its proof.

street plaque · brass on limestone



interior tag · perforated aluminium

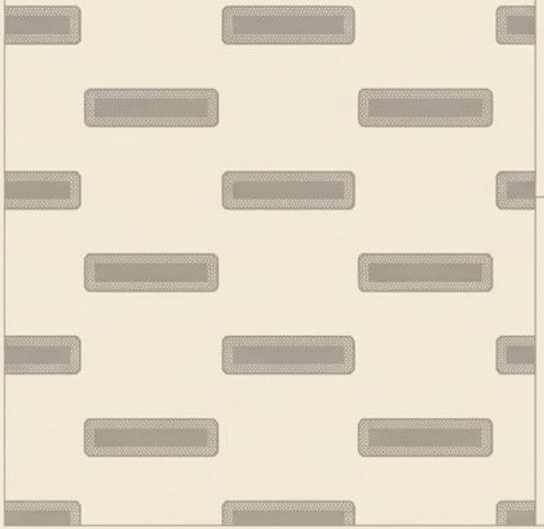
outgoing seal · dark-green wax + linen provenance card · printed wordmark + ink

38 · KAMMER

Berlin · curated artefacts since 2026

PATTERN — INVENTORY TAG REPEAT



PALETTE

#D4C4A8	#1F2A22	#3E2A1D	#8B7E6B	#BBA988
sand	forest deep	walnut	stone	oat

MONOGRAM — WAX SEAL

TYPEFACES

Tiempos Headline · Regular

Standard CT · Light: every object had a previous life, and we keep the proof of it.

VOICE

- present, never persuade.
- document, never decorate.
- conserve, never restore.
- hand on, never sell.

UNIT ECONOMICS · MONTHLY

rent · Mitte 32 m² → €2,400 / month
note: top-floor mansard, north skylight already in place

average basket → €380
note: single-object purchase, includes provenance dossier

transactions → 9 / week
note: closed Sundays + Mondays

sourcing margin → 58 %
note: estate buy-ins + auction-house resales

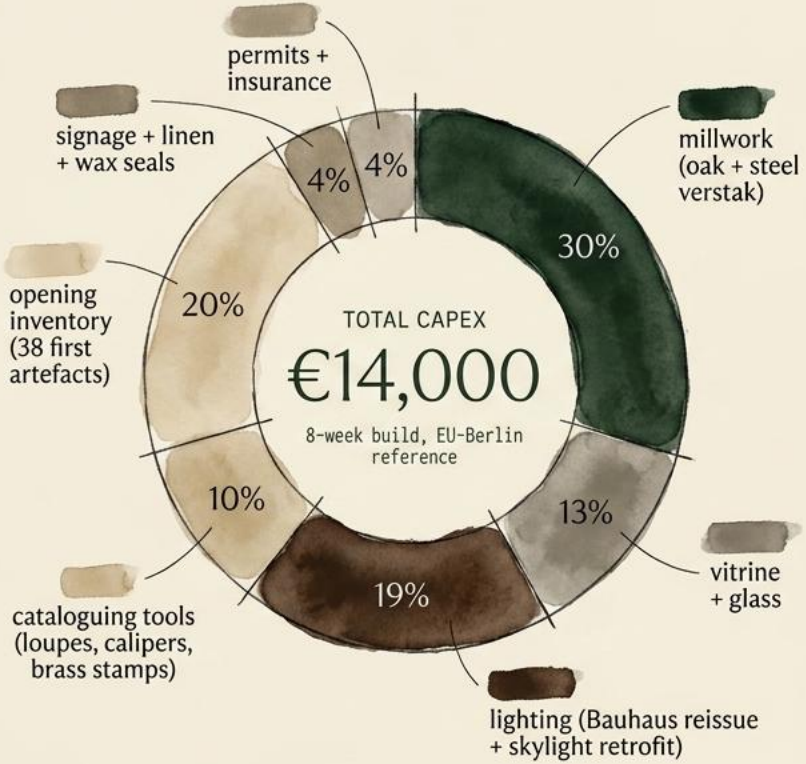
staff → 1 curator + 1 cataloguer (PT)
note: cataloguer 3 days/week, salary €1,400

break-even → 6 transactions / week
note: covers rent, materials, salaries

the math is quiet: ten objects out, three found in, nothing in stock for show.

figures are EU-Berlin reference benchmarks, not promises · revisit per local rent and audience

CAPEX BREAKDOWN



CAPEX · LINE BY LINE

01 ·	millwork (oak + steel verstak) → custom shop drawings · Berlin millworkers	€4,200
02 ·	vitrine + glass → 1 cube + 1 sash-window vitrine	€1,800
03 ·	lighting + skylight retrofit → north-facing skylight reseal + Bauhaus reissue lamps	€2,600
04 ·	cataloguing tools → loupes, calipers, brass stamps, fountain pens	€1,400
05 ·	opening inventory (38 objects) → estate-sale buys + auction lots	€2,800
06 ·	signage + linen + wax seals → brass plaque, oat-linen pouches, dark-green wax	€600
07 ·	permits + insurance → Gewerbeanmeldung + property insurance	€600

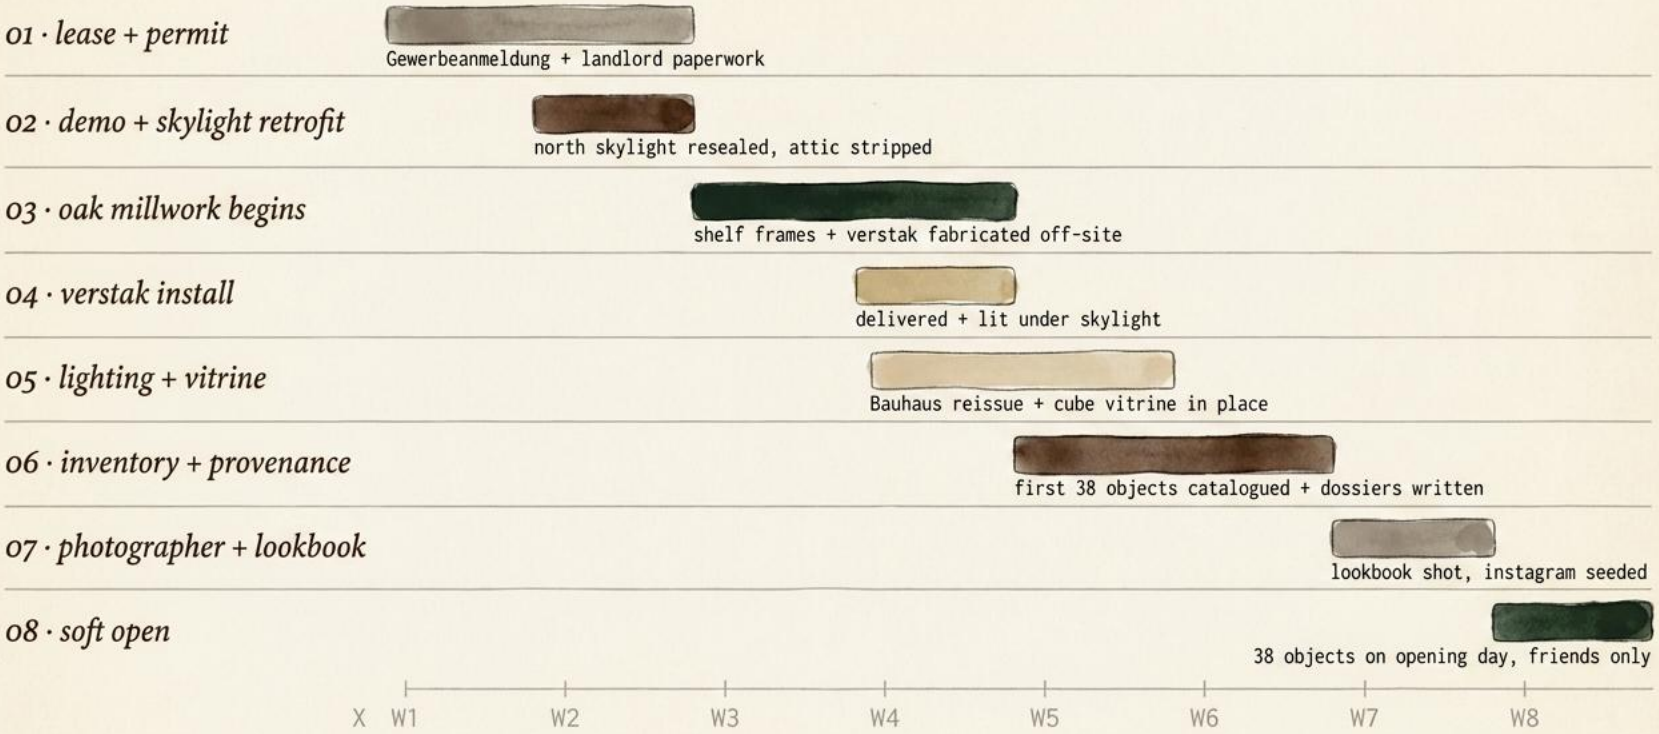
indicative · revisit with local quotes · figures are reference benchmarks, not promises.



the chamber opens with thirty-eight objects,
never fewer, never more.

Henrik Volcker, 47
ex-conservator, Pergamon Museum
"I wanted to do this for one room, not twelve halls."

Imke Schrader, 31
philology + restoration, Humboldt
"every object asks a question. I write down the answer."

Bartek Nowak, 38
sourcing scout, Wroclaw / Saxony estates
"I drive on Tuesdays and call from kitchens."

five days a week, the chamber is open. on the sixth, we go to estates. on the seventh, we rest.

the object had a previous life. now it has a next one.

01 ·

Helena & Dieter, 58 / 61
Charlottenburg
collect barometers, baroque & deco

visit · once a month, Saturday mornings
spend · €280–€620 per visit

02 ·

Lena, 34
architect, Prenzlauer Berg seeks one object per project

visit · twice a year, deliberate
spend · €120–€450 per visit

03 ·

Tobias, 41
film art-director, Mitte
rents objects for shoots, often buys after visit · monthly bursts (3–4 days)

spend · €600–€2,100 per visit

the chamber is for people who already know what they're looking for, even if they cannot name it yet.

01 ·

QUARTERLY WINDOW

one object lives in our window for ninety days.

neighbours notice. Photographers stop. Tourists tell their friends. There is no Instagram boost; just a window and a season.

02 ·

LONG-FORM LETTERS

a quarterly essay about one object we found.

no CTA, no buy button. Just an 800-word piece sent by post and email. Subscribers re-read them, frame the printouts, lend them to friends.

03 ·

INSTAGRAM @kammer_38

one post a week. always 16:9. always natural light.

no carousels, no reels, no music. The grid reads like a museum-quiet portfolio, the captions are the provenance lines.

04 ·

CONCIERGE / TRADE

Pergamon Museum, Bröhan, Lempertz Berlin send curators.

we list with three concierge desks. The collectors arrive already informed. There is rarely a haggle.

no paid ads · no sponsorships · the room is the funnel.

01 ·

RISK

SOURCING DRY SEASON

estate sales slow in summer. Auction lots move toward larger institutions. The chamber's monthly inflow drops below ten objects.

MITIGATION

two parallel scouts running on alternating weeks. Six-month buffer of catalogued-but-unshelved inventory. Public sourcing diary published on the website builds external referrals.

02 ·

RISK

AUTHENTICITY DISPUTE

a buyer questions provenance after purchase. Without a paper trail, the chamber's word becomes fragile.

MITIGATION

every object ships with a full provenance dossier (estate, year, conservation notes, photo set). 14-day return guarantee. All sales recorded with notarial-grade signature on the Bütten card.

03 ·

RISK

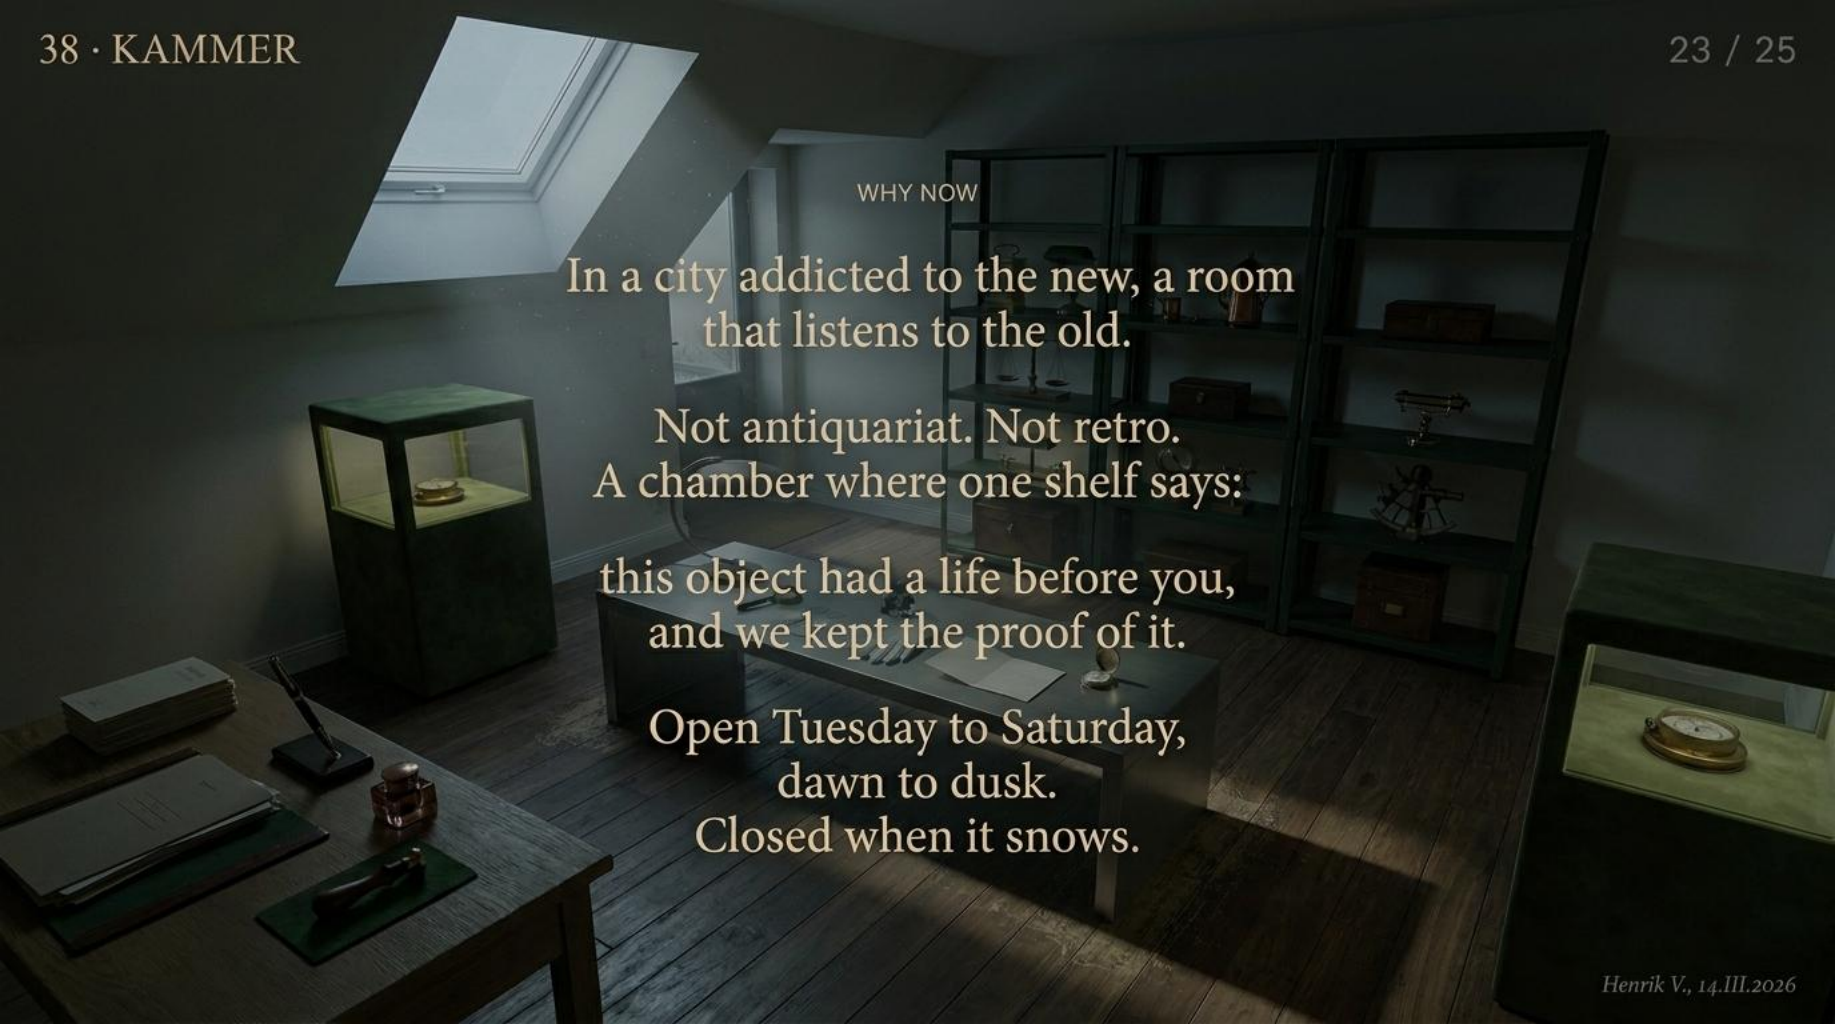
SOLO-CURATOR BURNOUT

Henrik is the chamber. Without him, no transfer happens. Without rest, judgment drifts and conservation suffers.

MITIGATION

fifth day of the week is the chamber's rest day, always closed. Imke handles incoming letters and dossiers from a separate desk. One full month off in summer, signage replaces window display.

we publish risks because chambers without doubt become galleries.



WHY NOW

In a city addicted to the new, a room
that listens to the old.

Not antiquariat. Not retro.
A chamber where one shelf says:

this object had a life before you,
and we kept the proof of it.

Open Tuesday to Saturday,
dawn to dusk.
Closed when it snows.

Henrik V., 14.III.2026

WHAT YOU GET · TWO HUNDRED HOURS OF WORK, CONDENSED

the chamber, in a folder.

01 · this 25-slide deck — palette, identity, voice

02 · skylight retrofit notes + Berlin millworker contacts

03 · unit economics worksheet (Numbers + Excel)

04 · verstak shop drawings + skylight section

05 · 4 estates · 3 auction houses · 2 markthallen

06 · InDesign file + Bütten paper supplier

07 · ranked starter inventory by acquisition difficulty

08 · visitor protocol + handling phrases

delivered as a single .zip + one printed Bütten welcome card by post.

38 · KAMMER

preserved, not restored.

CONCEPT

€49

the brandbook + plan, non-exclusive licence

EXCLUSIVE

€149

concept retired, full transfer of rights, editable source files

claim 38 · KAMMER →

micro.svita.ai/view.html?c=berlin-vintage-shop

a SVITA Micro concept · Berlin Mitte

thirty-eight objects, one chamber, one curator. open dawn to dusk.