LIEFDE

BRUGES · BEAUTY BAR

The slow ritual of being loved.

WHAT IT IS

A 26-square-metre beauty bar that feels like a Flemish prayer.

A single treatment chair behind a velvet curtain. Brass sconces. Amber bottles labelled by hand. A window onto a Bruges canal. One proprietor, one guest at a time, for ninety slow minutes.

Not a salon. Not a spa. A room in which to be touched carefully, quietly, beautifully, the way Flanders has done beauty for five hundred years.

THE PROPRIETOR

Anke.

Trained in Antwerp. Apprenticed in Ghent for seven years. Returned to Bruges to open a single-chair room. She does not take walk-ins. She remembers your name.

ROLE
proprietor · sole practitioner · five rituals / day

HER HANDS
facial · brow · hand · linen + candle

Bruges, Belgium · 2026. Documentary portrait.

THE MOMENT

Ninety minutes. One warm cloth. A different evening.

She comes back to the canal the way she came in — quiet, unrushed. The tea is already warm. The light is low. The water carries the sound of bells.

WHAT SHE PAID

€120 slow facial · €4 tea · €124 total

WHAT SHE KEPT

a slow afternoon · a soft face · a linen pouch

Bruges, Belgium · 2026. Documentary frame.

Three women, one room.

Who climbs the three steps from the canal quay into Anke's room.

PERSONA 01

The Bruges regular.

Mid-40s, lives in Bruges, runs a boutique on Steenstraat. Books a slow facial every six weeks. Treats LIEFDE as the Thursday she gives herself.

VISITS: every 6 weeks
TICKET: €120 slow facial

PERSONA 02

The gift-giver.

Her husband gave her the Full Afternoon for her birthday. She returns monthly, usually with her sister. She is the reason for the handwritten card and the wax seal.

VISITS: monthly, in pairs
TICKET: €220 full afternoon + Kriek

PERSONA 03

The quiet traveller.

She has two nights in Bruges, read about LIEFDE in a Flemish interiors journal, booked six weeks ahead. She will not post a photo. She will remember the tulip.

VISITS: once, on holiday
TICKET: €120 – €220

How they find the brass plaque.

Five quiet ways a guest arrives at Groenerei 17.

LABEL	DESCRIPTION	SHARE
WORD OF MOUTH	regulars send their sister, their friend, their husband's mother	42%
EDITORIAL	Flemish interiors journal + Dutch Sunday paper featured the room	22%
CANAL WALK-PAST	tourists notice the brass plaque, book six weeks ahead	14%
HOTEL CONCIERGE	four Bruges hotels hand LIEFDE cards to guests on check-in	14%
INSTAGRAM	"@liefde.brugge · two posts a week, still-lifes, no faces"	8%

No ads. No flyers. One brass plaque and one handwritten card per guest.

@liefde.brugge · 4 concierge partners · press · quietly

What could go wrong – and what we do about it.

Five honest failure modes for a single-chair Bruges room.

PROPRIETOR ILLNESS	one pair of hands means one room open. If Anke is sick, the door stays shut.	HIGH	hedge two visiting Antwerp practitioners on call, one day/month each
CANAL SEASONALITY	Bruges is quiet Nov–Feb; tourist peak Jun–Sep is loud and short.	MID	hedge winter rate for regulars, editorial features anchor the quiet months
RENT ESCALATION	heritage addresses on Groenerei are re-priced every 3 years.	MID	hedge 9-year commercial lease signed at fixed CPI-index
PRODUCT SUPPLY	bespoke amber bottles + Flemish linen have two single-source suppliers.	LOW	hedge six-month stock buffer, second supplier identified in Ghent
OVER-BOOKING FATIGUE	five guests × 90 minutes × Tue–Sat is a firm ceiling for one person.	MID	hedge firm waiting list, no walk-ins, every 8 weeks a closed rest-week

Small room, honest math. No risk pretends not to exist.

We do not raise our voice.

1. One chair. One proprietor. Ninety minutes.

2. We do not take walk-ins. We remember your name.
3. Every ritual begins with a warm cloth and ends with tea.
4. The room will wait for you. Stay as long as you stay.
5. We do not discount. We only give time.

6. The canal is not a view. It is the room.

7. We close one week every eight, so Anke may rest.
