team · three hands, one fire

Ahmed — Master shawarma · 20+ yrs · lamb marinade, spit-loading, knife-work

Mahmoud — Host / cashier · receives queue · wraps · cash-ledger

Tarek — Prep assistant · stacks pita · refills pickles · cleans at dawn

small crew · dawn-to-dawn rotation

109 · SHAM 28

Cairo · Downtown · 28 m²

after · the first bite at 4 am who comes back · three regulars

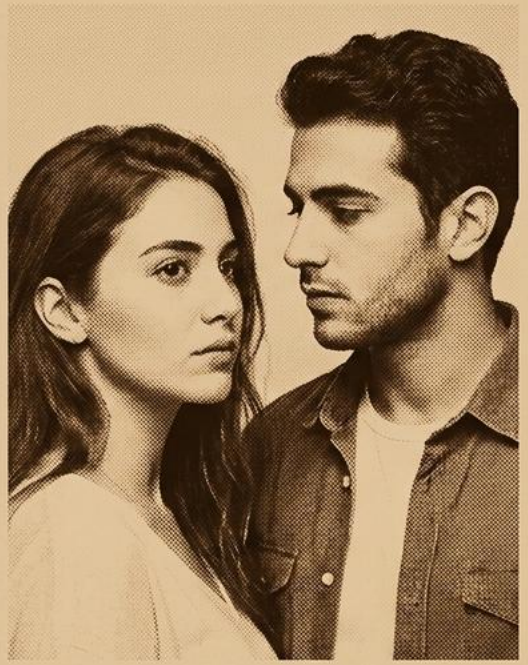
Taxi driver Hassan · Abbasiyya · “he works until 5 am — we are the only meal after midnight”



Young couple Nour & Omar · after a concert · “the post-concert wrap is our tradition”

Hotel concierge Reem · sends tourists · “this is where Cairo actually eats” four channels · the street is the first one

Instagram @sham_28 — “one video per dawn · the slicing, the flame, the queue”

Word-of-mouth (taxi drivers, hotel concierges) — “our real distribution channel”

Foodies press (TimeOut Cairo, Cairo Gossip) — ‘two reviews in first six months”

Delivery apps (Talabat, Elmenus) — ‘but only after 10 pm — daytime is for the street”

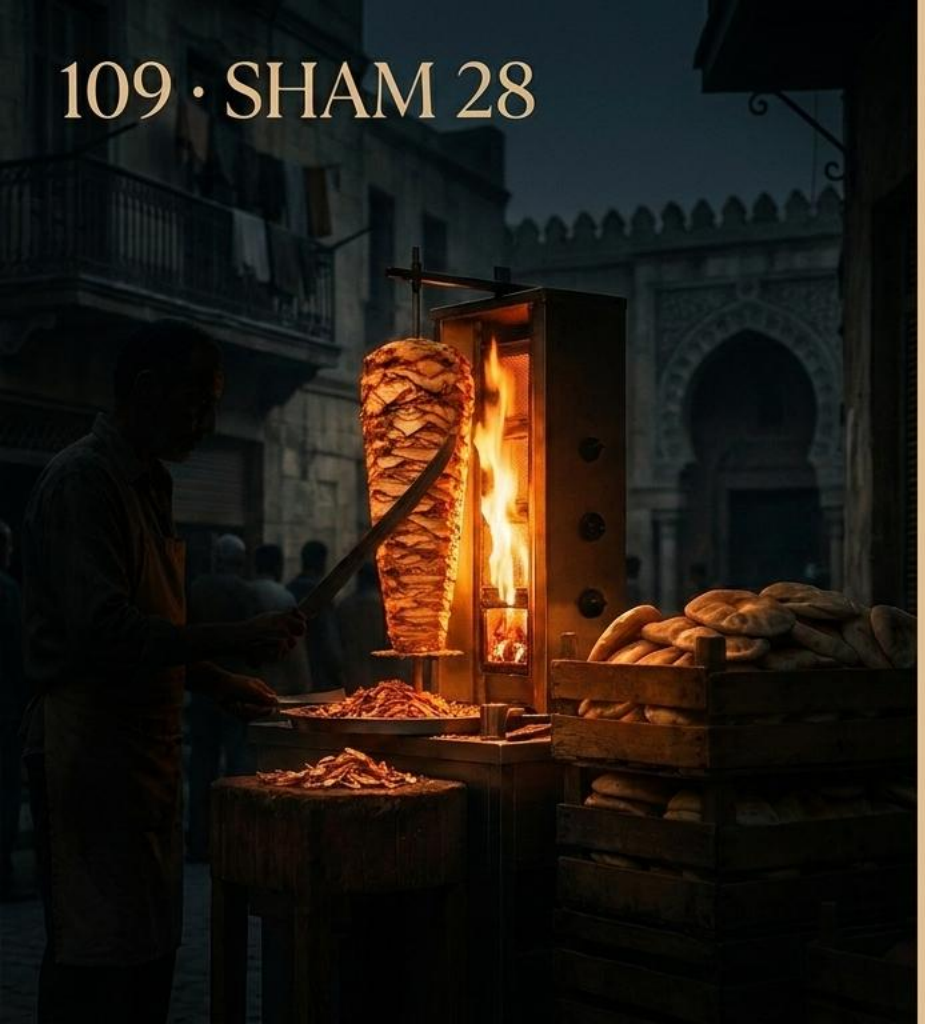
the food travels – we do not chase trends

three risks · three answers

Downtown Cairo is saturated with shawarma stalls → answer: we specialize in lamb-only, higher quality, published supplier chain

EGP currency instability affects margins → answer: weekly pricing review · supplier contracts in USD where possible

Overnight operation needs staff rotation → answer: 3-man rotating crew, overlapping shifts, fair overnight pay



Cairo never sleeps — the city writes its nights on wooden crates. The spit turns, the bread warms, the queue forms. Twenty-eight square metres of sidewalk between balconies, where the street is the restaurant and the night is the menu.
